Youth Transitions Collaborative Emerging Leaders Program

Invites YOU to our January 2015 Networking Happy Hour

Happy New Year from the Emerging Leaders Program! We want to thank everyone who attended the Emerging Leaders Networking Happy Hour events in 2014 and making it such a successful year! You are invited to our first networking event of 2015. You will have the opportunity to meet and network with the AAPD staff, members of the DCBLN and Youth Transitions Collaborative membership organizations. To learn more about DCBLN, please visit their website at www.dcmetrobln.org.

Date: Wednesday, January 28, 2015 Time: 6:00pm-8:00pm Location: National Youth Transitions Center (NYTC) 2013 H St. NW Washington, DC 20006

To RSVP and request accommodations, please click here.

We also encourage you to join the DC Metro Business Leadership Network for A Disability Summit at 2:00 pm in the NYTC on Wednesday, January 28th.

Through a series of panel and roundtable discussions, employers, young professionals, college students, university/college representatives, and other key stakeholders will discuss solutions for recruiting students with disabilities for career opportunities and advancement. For more information or to register for this event, please see the attached invitation.

The Emerging Leaders program, supported by a grant from The HSC Foundation, is a monthly event coordinated by the American Association of People with Disabilities (AAPD) for young people with disabilities in the Washington, DC metro area to help expand their professional network with established professionals, representatives from 45+ organizations, and their peers at the National Youth Transitions Center (NYTC).
